

Direct the conversation. Rehearse the room.

PanelPrep lets you decide who speaks and what happens next while AI maintains the panel context, distinct personas, and natural conversational continuity.

You run the panel. We keep the room coherent.

01

Panel

Set the context and define the people in the room. Provide as much or as little as you know — we will complete it for you.

- Name, summary, topics, duration, and participant count
- Moderator plus one to four panelists
- Your details take priority; AI fills optional gaps

02

Rehearsal

Start with Moderator — Question, then direct each turn from the persistent participant controls.

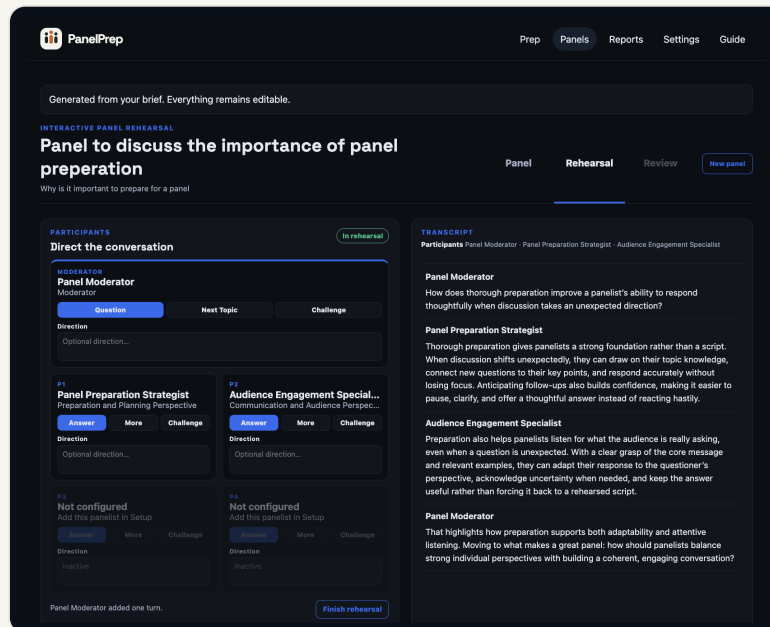

- Panelists: Answer, More (dive deeper), or Challenge
- Moderator: Question, Next Topic, or Challenge
- Optional Direction shapes the next turn without scripting it

03

Review

Finish the rehearsal when the discussion is complete, then examine what the conversation revealed.

- Read the clean, chronological transcript
- Email the transcript to your team
- Listen with audio replay
- Use pacing, contribution, and coaching signals to refine the live panel

Rehearsal view — participant controls on the left, transcript on the right

A rehearsal moves one deliberate turn at a time

Moderator: Question

P1: Answer

Moderator: Challenge

P2: Answer

Moderator: Next Topic

Prepare for the live panel

Focus the promise

Know what the audience should understand or question when the panel ends.

Create contrast

Give panelists distinct expertise, positions, and likely points of disagreement.

Share themes, not a script

Prepare opening questions while leaving room for genuine follow-ups.

Rehearse to discover

Listen for repetition, missing voices, weak transitions, and topics that need more room.